THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

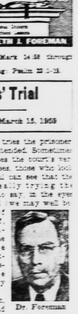
Bible Material: Mark 14:53 through Devotional Reading: Psalm 27:1-3.

Jesus' Trial

Lesson for March 15, 1959

THE COURT tries the prisoner as it is intended. Sometimes the story reverses the court's verdict in such cases those who look at the trial can see that the prisoner was really tried by the court. That is to say, in the eyes of posterity and of God himself, the court was condemned while the trial will be judged by its results. It is the latter way around.

Take, for example, the Jesus' spectacular trial. The writ was crowded and crucial, executed apparently to every one's approval. But today he is called a Saint. Students of her life all agree that if any one in that grim courtroom where her fate was decided deserved to die, it was not the but some who betrayed her, some who judged her.



Dr. Foreman

The Judge's Question

A real trial before Pilate is the supreme example of such an injustice-court. It may not stand before the governor that everyone now so thought history would rise him and his accusers and that in the morning he would have smiled from Roman smile and permitted Jesus to go free. It is useless to be interested. But if history wants to know, it is on the record. I had the experience of that settling it. It doesn't it? Pilate could not have known that his own sole claim to fame would be the fact that every seven days, all over the world, hundreds of millions of men and women would repeat the words about like a curse: "Crucified under Christ he suffered. Son our Lord, who ... suffered under Pontius Pilate."

In the course of that wicked farce of a trial, Pilate asked a question which has more echoes than he guessed: "Then what shall I do with Jesus?" That is the question by which the participants in that trial were judged; it is the question that judges us today. What will you do with Jesus?

The Mob's Answer

Pilate asked the wrong people what to do with Jesus. He was the judge, he had the responsibility. He never would have thought of asking a Jewish mob for advice on statesmanship or anything else. Yet he goes through the bitter farce of asking a mob, a brainless bloodthirsty mob, what to do with this innocent prisoner. The crowd thought they were passing sentence; but they were only passing sentence on themselves. The voice of the people is not the verdict of history, it is not the voice of truth nor the voice of God. Sometimes it is; but not there and then, not in Jerusalem. Mobs have voices, they have wills, they may have weapons, the one thing they do not have is brains, judgment, wisdom. The verdict of history, verdict of God is seldom in favor of the mob.

The Fact-Finders

Of course, even a mob's voice has some brains behind it. In this case it was that dignified combination of chief priests and elders and scribes. These were Pilate's fact-finders. Pilate was a typical Roman; he cared less than nothing for local customs, superstitious notions. He did not pretend to understand why this Jesus should be the object of so much hate. When Pilate said, "What evil has he done?" it is very possible that he was not "stalling for time" but really was puzzled to know. The scribes and the elders and the chief priests were his fact-finders, his research team when cases came up out of their courts — and such occasions were rare. If some inquiring reporter has asked some of those chief priests, the afternoon of Good Friday, what part they had in the trial, they would perhaps have said with pride, "We were there. We influenced the result. We were consulted. We gave the advice that changed the governor's mind. That Jesus might have been at large this minute, if it had not been for us."

But is was murder all the same. For these fact-finders had no facts. All they had was prejudice, emotion, name-calling. They influenced the result; but not with truth. Can we say we are never guilty of their crime?

Health and Beauty

We have been told that it is better to know how to give vent to anger. Even more the ever-agressive child reacts in a more direct way to anger. He may strike out at the object which angers him or he may develop an emotional problem in connection with the child reaction to a unpleasant experience. He may exhibit childhood without learning how to express anger actively.

The result of this inability may express itself in terms of physical discomfort or malfunction. Some workers say that the inner tension and resentment caused by such situations as argumentative heart disease and nervous vascular disease. One person controls the anger to the extent to which the object has been used.

Twin Mix is composed of rich a person of sweet. Many people fight a battle each night after the children have gone to bed with what they should have said but didn't. This is not unfortunate thinking as many suffers from this mental torment to some extent. Perhaps you can relate to this statement that many of the world's outstanding people have had to contend with this. Many have skin troubles have their roots in the emotions. The push, pull and rush of life can help to add to mental problems. Tension, like your companion, of valuable help in that it helps to spur the gastric process of the skin.

A young columnist, one of the most successful girls that help your family is a healthy mental outlook. Without this it is impossible to enjoy life.

LOCAL APPOMATTOX WOMANS CLUB SUPPORTS "BALLOT" CAMPAIGN

"We feel that the time has come to step forward and speak out vigorously for driver licensing laws that will operate to reserve the driving privilege for those motorists willing to accept and live up to the responsibilities inherent in the operation of a motor vehicle," said an official of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

"Our lives and health and the lives of our families have too long been jeopardized by a selfish minority of drivers, who are incapable or unwilling to drive safely. In my opinion, this campaign for improved driver licensing procedures is the most significant and satisfying program ever undertaken by the General Federation of Women's Clubs."

State legislators throughout the nation will be alerted to feminine concern over state driver licensing laws as the result of a unique "Ballot for Better Drivir Licensing" campaign to be conducted by the General Federation of Women's Clubs, according to Mrs. B. V. Todd, national safety chairman.

The General Federation, which numbers more than seven million members in this country, recently adopted a "Passport to Safety" program to alert its members to the necessity for driver license legislative reforms to improve traffic conditions. The "Ballot for Better Driver Licensing" campaign will dramatize this program and express to state legislators the concern felt by women over the traffic accident problem, according to Mrs. Todd.

Printed ballots urging legislative action to improve state driver licensing programs will be sent to each of the GFWC's 20,000 affiliates throughout the country for signature by the members who will forward the signed ballot to their respective state legislators.

KNOW THE WEATHER

By E. H. Sims

Does a red sunrise indicate rain before the end of the day, as the saying goes?

There is little scientific support for this belief, which is also a part of a rhyme concerning both red sunsets and red sunrises. A red sunrise merely indicates dusty atmosphere to the west in most areas of the country — not a sign of rain.

A red sunset is an indication, in fall and winter, of dry weather and probably cold weather, more often than not. A red sunrise would seem to have the same value as a weather clue.

Therefore in the famed rhyme about red sunrises and red sunsets, the folkore about the sunrise would often be wrong while the old belief about the sunset would more often than not be correct.

In FASHION now

Hare is one of the most interesting of the modest-priced furs. The hare is a cousin to the rabbit, and its fur is warm and lightweight. A great trait in its favor is the fact that it dyes beautifully.

The colors possible are endless and range from snow white to purple, mint green, bright red, clear amber and safe black, brown and gray. The fur can be shaped like fabrics. Its softness makes it flattering to women of all ages. Its low cost makes it a perfect fur for the going girl.

Light shades of hare can be fashioned into spring coats and jackets.

Denim has been traditionally used for sturdy work clothes; however, it has been turned into a fashion cloth. You will see it used for dressy long evening skirts, teamed with chiffon, organdy and silk. Some of the spring's most outstanding suits, coats and playclothes are made of denim. Summer swimsuits are taking advantage of the texture of quality denim.

About The Home

By Frances Dell

It is often said that necessity is the mother of invention. The proof of this adage is all around us and perhaps today's home owner claims best knowledge of it.

The modern house with its fewer rooms and tighter spaces have brought about many innovations in home design and decorating. Modern furniture comes with simple lines that make it easy to clean. New materials are used throughout the home that are designed to come clean with the whisk of a soapy cloth, and take unbelievable punishment.

Poular color schemes revolve around an enlarging monchromatic basis.

Most outstanding of all, however, is the built-in, a wonderful space-saver, which has replaced many pieces of standard furniture in today's dining areas. The built - in is a welcome cure-all to storage problems. Skillful planning and carpentry can create cupboard space where no piece of furniture could possibly fit.

A popular ruse is to hide a buffet in one wall of the dining area. In this type construction, all shelving and drawers are hidden behind spring-latch doors, and walls and doors are of wood paneling.

Built-ins are loved not only for their saving in space but for their decorative qualities as well. When beautiful woods are used, the built-in becomes an outstanding addition to any room.

The Dirty Crooks

Thomson, Ga.- Sheriff Lynn Norris arrested Willie Hampton redentby on a charge of stealing a radio from an ice house in October.

Hampton admitted the theft and took the sheriff to a vacant house where the radio had been hidden.

It was gone. Norris said someone had stolen it from Hampton.

'Deodorized' Skunks

San Mateo, Cal.- Jess Reed, 38, of Stockton, California, has received a sentence for petty theft in the case of four allegedly deodorized skunks who weren't.

Reed pleaded guilty to the charge, which was the way the district attorney assessed the seriousness of his sale of four unimpaired skunks to pet dealers after representing them as incapable of doing what skunks are famous for.

The dealers learned the truth the hard way.

British Exports

London.- Britain's export to Communist China increased by 120 per cent in 1958, as compared with 1957, John Rodgers, parliamentary secretary to the Board of Trade, told the House of Commons recently.
